

PowerNet Services

Designed to Protect Your Investment in RF Technology

- Are you tired of having to pay high prices on terminal maintenance contracts?
- Have you recently been asked to make major changes in how your data collection equipment is serviced?
- Has your hardware manufacturer relocated its repair center outside the country, expecting you to pay the same rates for untrained service personnel?

If you answered yes to any of these, see the following...

Connect Has Introduced a COUPON Program.

Instead of purchasing a contract to cover all of your units and portable printers, you may purchase repair coupons that will cover them. This allows you to buy only what you need. You can use previous service histories to determine what rate is right for you.

A coupon covers all repairs (except abuse) for a terminal or printer. This includes major repairs on any component of the unit (excluding print heads).

Avoid expensive time and material charges with this fixed rate option. No need to have a maintenance contract; you can purchase more coupons as they are needed.

If this sounds like something that could help you save money, check out the following for pricing for your units:
